

Transforming Retail Planning into a Continuous Strategic Advantage

In today's fast-paced Retail environment, staying ahead isn't just an advantage; it's a necessity. Retailers face unique challenges that demand faster insights, smarter decisions, and the agility to respond to rapidly changing market conditions. That's where the next generation of Peloton Consulting Group's RetailXcelerate comes in. We're transforming planning from a periodic exercise into your continuous competitive edge.

Built on Oracle's industry-leading EPM Planning platform and enhanced with Peloton's deep Retail expertise, our next generation RetailXcelerate delivers immediate value through pre-configured planning content, intelligent workflows, and AI-powered predictive analytics. Retailers gain visibility into planning assumptions, model scenarios in real-time, and align teams around consensus-driven plans, all while reducing manual processes and accelerating time-to-insight.

The Retail Challenge: Navigating Complexity with Confidence

Every day, retailers are up against:

- Disconnected planning processes causing misalignment
- Inefficient operational decisions impacting customer experience
- Slow response to market changes and trends
- Challenges forecasting consumer demand leading to inventory imbalances
- Difficulty balancing inventory levels with cash flow

These aren't just obstacles. They are opportunities waiting to be unlocked. Our next generation RetailXcelerate is your key to turning these challenges into your competitive advantage.
